What Vusi's sister said / Det systra til Vusi
Det systra til Vusi sa

Early one morning Vusi's granny called him, "Vusi, please take this egg to your parents. They want to make a large cake for your sister's wedding".

Tidleg ein morgen ropte bestemora til Vusi på han: "Vusi, ver snill og ta med dette egget til foreldra dine. Dei vil laga ei stor kake til bryllaupet til syster di."

Vusi's sister thought for a while, then she said, "Vusi my brother, I don't really care about gifts. I don't even care about the cake! We are all here together, I am happy. Now put on your smart clothes and let's celebrate this day!" And so that's what Vusi did.

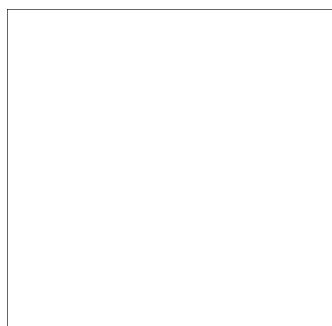

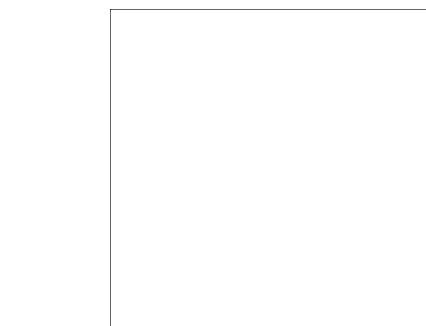

On his way to his parents, Vusi met two boys picking fruit. One boy grabbed the egg from Vusi and shot it at a tree. The egg broke.

På veg til foreldra sine møtte Vusi to gutter som plukka frukt. Ein gutt snappa egget fra Vusi og kasta det på et tre. Egget knuste.

Systera til Vusi tenkte eit bel, så sa ho: "Vusi, kjære bro, eg bryr meg verkeleg ikkje om gáver. Eg bryr meg ikkje ein gong om kakal! Vi er alle saman samla her, så eg er glad. Så ta på deg nokre fine klede og la oss feira denne dagen!" Så det var det Vusi gjorde.

"What have you done?" cried Vusi. "That egg was for a cake. The cake was for my sister's wedding. What will my sister say if there is no wedding cake?"

...

"Kva har du gjort?" ropte Vusi. "Det egget var meint for ei kake. Kaka var til bryllaupet til syster mi. Kva kjem syster mi til å seia viss det ikkje vert noka bryllaupskake?"

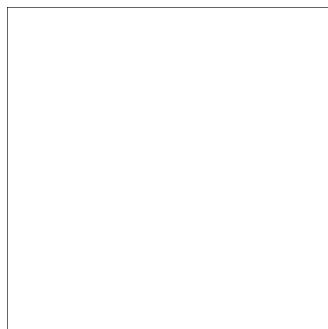

"What shall I do?" cried Vusi. "The cow that ran away was a gift, in return for the thatch the builders gave me. The builders gave me the thatch because they broke the stick from the fruit pickers. The fruit pickers gave me the stick because they broke the egg for the cake. The cake was for the wedding. Now there is no egg, no cake, and no gift."

"Kva skal eg gjera?" ropte Vusi. "Den kua som sprang bort var ei gâve til gjengjeld for halmen som bygningsarbeidarane gav meg. Bygningsarbeidarane gav meg halmen fordi dei knakk kjeppen frå fruktplukkarane. Fruktplukkarane gav meg kjeppen fordi dei knuste egget som var meint for kaka. Kaka var meint for bryllaupet. No er det ikkje noko egg, ikkje noko kake, og ikkje noko gâve."

The boys were sorry for teasing Vusi. "We can't help with the cake, but here is a walking stick for your sister," said one. Vusi continued on his journey.

Men kua sprang tilbake til bonden rundt middagstid. Og Vusi gjekk seg vili på reisa. Han kom fram veldig sent til bryllupet til syster si. Gjestene var allereie i gang med å eta.

Vusi got lost on his journey. He arrived very late for his sister's wedding. The guests were already eating.

Along the way he met two men building a house. "Can we use that strong stick?" asked one. But the stick was not strong enough for building, and it broke.

...

På vegen møtte han to menn som bygde eit hus. "Kan vi bruka den sterke kjeppen?" spurde han eine. Men kjeppen var ikkje sterk nok for bygningen, så han knakk.

The cow was sorry she was greedy. The farmer agreed that the cow could go with Vusi as a gift for his sister. And so Vusi carried on.

Kua var lei seg for at ho var grådig. Bonden vart samd i at kua skulle følgja med Vusi som ei gāve til syster hans. Og slik heldt Vusi fram.

“What have you done?” cried Vusi. “That stick was a gift for my sister. The fruit pickers gave me the stick because they broke the egg for the cake. The cake was for my sister’s wedding. Now there is no egg, no cake, and no gift. What will my sister say?”

“Kva har du gjort?” ropte Vusi. „Den kjeppen var ei gáve for bryllupet til syster mi. No er det ikje noko egg, ikje dei knuste egget som var meint for kaka. Kaka var meint til syster mi. Fruktplukkaren gav meg den kjeppen fordi noka kake, og ikje noka gáve. Kva kjem syster mi til á seiå?”

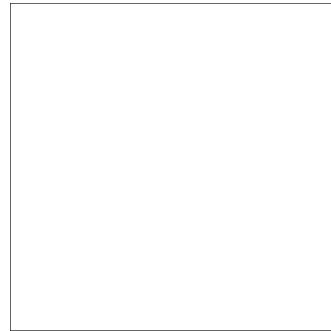

Fruktplukkaren gav meg kjeppen fordi dei knuste egget til syster mi. Kaka var meint for bryllupet meint for kaka til syster mi. Kaka var meint for bryllupet til syster mi. No er det ikje noko egg, ikje dei knakk kjeppen fra fruktplukkaren.

“Kva har du gjort?” ropte Vusi. „Den halmen var ei gáve til syster mi. Bygningssarbeidaren gav meg den halmen fordi dei knakk kjeppen fra fruktplukkaren.

“What have you done?” cried Vusi. “That thatch was a gift for my sister. The builders gave me the thatch because they broke the stick from the fruit pickers. The fruit pickers gave me the stick because they broke the egg for my sister. The cake was for my sister’s wedding. Now there is no egg, no cake, and no gift. What will my sister say?”

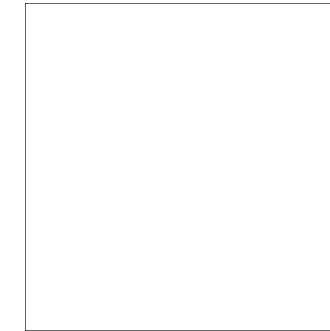

The builders were sorry for breaking the stick. "We can't help with the cake, but here is some thatch for your sister," said one. And so Vusi continued on his journey.

Bygningsarbeidarane var leie seg for at dei knakk kjeppen. "Vi kan ikkje hjelpe deg med kaka, men her er litt halmtekke for huset til syster di", sa den eine. Og slik heldt Vusi fram på reisa.

Along the way, Vusi met a farmer and a cow. "What delicious thatch, can I have a nibble?" asked the cow. But the thatch was so tasty that the cow ate it all!

...

På vegn møtte Vusi ein bonde og ei ku. "For noko herleg halm, kan eg få ein smakebit?" spurde kua. Men halmen smakte så godt at kua åt opp alt!
